Red. for.
Stephen Colbert has sayed ~~that~~ Global warming isn't real because I was cold today! Also great news: world hunger is over because I just ate. ~~In~~ my mind author would say to us that if we don't see or feel something isn't means that isn't real. I think global warming is true, because people do a lot of damage for our planet and its go to a lot of trouble for ecology. For example, there are very dirty air in every big city because humans use so much cars and factories. It is one of many reasons of global warming.

In conclusion, I would say that people can save themselves for global warming if they will use resources of our planet more correctly.
